

Be a part of National Drug Facts Week

January 27–February 2, 2014

Looking for an interactive activity to tie together your National Drug Facts Week event? The 2014 IQ Challenge quiz encourages teens to learn key facts about drug abuse by sparking their competitive side.

The 2014 IQ Challenge is a new online quiz that asks key questions about drug abuse. After submitting your answer, the quiz provides the correct answer and an explanation.

Here's how one 2013 event holder used the IQ Challenge as part of his National Drug Facts Week event:

"National Drug Facts Week engaged students to learn about the dangers of alcohol and drugs and the rewards of recovery through entertaining learning activities, events, and contests rather than decisions based on peer testimonials and pressures. The students created drug facts posters and participated in NIDA's National Drug IQ Challenge."

— Joe Hauck
Great Onyx Job Corps Civilian Conservation Center
Mammoth Cave, Kentucky

How will you use the IQ Challenge as part of your event?

Spread the Word!

Let your followers know about the 2014 IQ Challenge by using the tweet below.

Check out the 2014 IQ Challenge

www.drugfactsweek.drugabuse.gov

National Institute on Drug Abuse

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) is part of the National Institutes of Health (NIH), the principal biomedical and behavioral research agency of the United States Government. NIH is a component of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.